

At Home Sorting Game

A category sorting activity based on the kitchen, bedroom, bathroom, and living room categories. Categories are an essential topic that may help kids understand words and create connections between them. This will be a useful exercise for speech-language therapists, teachers, and parents.

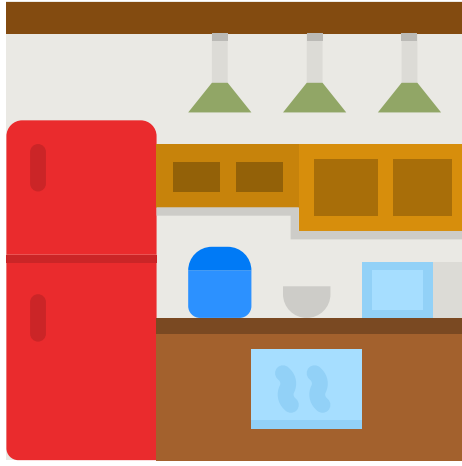

Each player chooses a board. If you only have two players, you can select two boards each. Cut out all of the furniture cards and turn them over so you can only see the back. Take it in turns to turn them over one at a time, and if the furniture belongs in your room, you get to keep it! If it doesn't, put it to the bottom of the pile and keep playing.
